

INGWE | UNIT 6

Ingwe, which means leopard in Zulu, is a smaller air-conditioned thatched unit, which can accommodate three guests.

The unit has a queen bed and single bed, with an en-suite shower and separate toilet. The shower offers a curtain, which can be drawn for privacy.

The unit has a fridge, microwave and coffee/tea making facility.

Enjoy a rustic African experience with an outside communal bush kitchen, where you can prepare meals. The bush kitchen is shared with the unit next door and is equipped with a few cooking utensils with a stove and microwave oven, as well as cutlery and crockery, and a wash up area.

Ingwe faces the Crocodile River, and has a small patio sheltered by a thatched umbrella with a dining table, where you can enjoy a barbeque (braai) in the evenings, there is no living room area.
