

BATELEUR | UNIT 8

This gorgeous, air-conditioned luxury log cabin was named after the magnificent short tailed African eagle, bateleur, a popular species, which you should look out for on your trips in to the Kruger National Park.

The log cabin offers a master bedroom, which sleeps four guests, with a king-sized bed, and fold out sleeper couch, which the staff can make up on request. It also has a 42 Inch screen television with full DSTV, and an en suite bathroom with a shower and separate toilet.

Large glass sliding doors lead out of the master bedroom to the private viewing deck, offering unsurpassed views of the Kruger National Park.

Elephants frequently wander below the deck, next to the fence, a truly wonderful way to admire them from a safe distance and platform.

The second bedroom is for the more adventurous, and offers a true African experience, as you sleep out on the deck (undercover of a thatch roof) in a comfortable queen-sized bed, which is covered with a mosquito net. It offers roll down canvas in case of inclement weather, and a roof fan, washbasin and separate toilet.

The deck area has a dining table and well-equipped kitchenette; it does not offer an oven but has a microwave and stove. A barbeque (braai) area is also provided below the entrance to the log cabin.

The log cabin comfortably sleeps six guests (as long as two of the guests are comfortable with sleeping on the deck) but is also a popular and romantic option for couples.
